

Prophetic Prayers at a Glance

Memorise prayers incorporated in the Holy Qur'an and Traditions which are meant to be uttered on various occasions and at different timings round the clock and commemorate them. Offer these prayers regularly with sincerity and understanding, eagerness and concentration and with complete devotion until these prayers and supplications become the true yearnings of your heart. To beseech Allah, to beseech constantly, to beseech in the words instructed by Allah and beseech what has been besought by His Beloved people—this is the glory of the pious and this alone entails Grace of Allah in both worlds.

In pursuance of this ideal a selection of the prayers from the Qur'an and Traditions have been incorporated in this book. Since, however, these prayer are interspersed throughout the book under different headings in various chapters, the reader may find it rather difficult to trace them as and when needed for use or reference. Hence we are giving an index of these prayers. These prayer have been arranged in alphabetical order with page numbers.
